Crito, 3

1. Read and annotate 48c-50a (ending at “I do not know.”) (p. 51-53). Mark whatever puzzles you, surprises you, seems important, or makes you think.
2. Reread the long paragraph that makes up 48c-d. In your words, what is Socrates saying in this section?
3. Select the sentence(s) of the reading that you find most important to its meaning.
  - Recopy that sentence(s).
  - Explain its role in the reading. This could mean explaining
    - What is the purpose of the sentence(s) in the reading? How is it being used by the author and/or a character?
    - What’s the context – what’s being described or discussed when the sentence(s) appear?
  - Explain why you find it so important to the meaning of the reading.
